

THE NEW LAW.

MAP SHOWING THE INDIANA APPORTIONMENT OF 1897.

THE APPORTIONMENT

NEW LAW ENACTED BY THE INDIANA GENERAL ASSEMBLY.

How the Districts Are Arranged, Together with the Figures on Which the Act is Based—Vote in the House—The Law of 1885.

The map given above will show at a glance the arrangement of Indiana counties for senatorial and representative apportionment. The bill was the work of a special committee appointed by a joint caucus of the Republican members of the general assembly. This committee was composed of Senators Hawkins, Hogate and Houghton and Representatives Babcock, Smith and Littleton, to whom had been referred all the bills introduced on the subject. It was at a caucus held on the night of Feb. 2 that these gentlemen reported the result of their labors, which was adopted after a long session. Some opposition was made to the measure, particularly by representatives from Lagrange and Steuben counties, and for some days it was doubted whether the constitutional majority could be secured for its passage in the house. This test came on Wednesday, Feb. 10, after the caucus had the night previous determined to adhere to the bill as at first offered. No vote in the house had been watched with as great interest up to the time the law was put on its passage, and it was to avoid an exciting scene that the roll was called. Mr. Butler was the only Republican who voted against it, defending his action on the ground that it was unsatisfactory to his constituents and that his first duty was to them. The vote was 52 to 47, affording one more than the necessary majority. In the senate the bill had smooth sailing when it came to a vote, Republicans voting solidly for and Democrats against it. The figures given below show the vote in the districts as now arranged in the election of 1895, the excess or deficit over the unit (which is 18,540 for senator and 6,270 for representative) and the party to which the difference is credited or charged.

Governor of Crete Shows the White Feather and Goes Aboard a Russian Man-of-War—Prince George Receives a Visit From Commanders of Foreign Men-of-War and Withdraws.

CANEA, Island of Crete, Feb. 15.—The Christians occupied the heights surrounding the town yesterday and began to bombard Canea. As soon as the firing commenced Prince George Berovitch, governor of Crete, with 30 recently enrolled Montenegrin gendarmes boarded the Russian man-of-war. The Greek consul also embarked on board another vessel. The Turks from the fortress replied to the fire of the Christians. The military governor has been removed from his post. The foreign consuls also embarked on board the various vessels lying off the town of Canea. The Greek consul at Heraklion went on board the Greek warship Naumarchos Miallis.

The Christians at Heraklion are also hurrying on board the ships. Fighting occurred around Halepa on Saturday. After a brisk fusillade the Turks dislodged the Christians and occupied the Akrotiri hills. The French consul was obliged to quit his country house at Halepa and return to his official residence at Canea.

IN MCKINLEY'S HONOR

Preparation For the Inauguration of the President-Elect.

LAVISHNESS OF FESTIVITIES.

Inaugural Ball Will Be Held in the Pension Building and Any One Who Has the Price May Attend—General Porter Busy With the Details of the Great Parade.

WASHINGTON, Feb. 15.—The arrangements for the inauguration of President-elect McKinley two weeks from next Thursday are rapidly nearing completion, and the indications are that in point of brilliancy and attractiveness the ceremonies, the decorations and the festivities incident to inauguration week will be more lavish than those of former years. About $13,000 will be spent by the inaugural committee in decorating the main ball room and the private rooms set apart for the use of the presidential and vice presidential parties. The great height of the court of the pension building, where the ball will be held, will be overcome by bunting festooned from the center of each of the three divisions of the court to the top of the second gallery. The bare walls everywhere and all the smaller pillars will be covered with bunting.

The president and vice president and their families will attend the ball and will be in charge of a reception committee, of which Major General Nelson A. Miles is the chairman.

The cost of tickets to the ball has been fixed at $5 for each person and $1 extra if supper is desired. In answer to many inquiries received at headquarters it may be stated that no invitations to the ball are necessary to secure tickets and none are issued except to foreign ministers. Tickets are now on sale and may be had by any one at the price named. The promenade concert will consist of six selections and the dance programmes contains 23 numbers. The ball will be held on Thursday night, and in addition a series of five inaugural grand concerts will be given in the ballroom on the following Friday and Saturday. At the first concert the Republican glee club of Columbus, O., will sing a number of patriotic airs. Friday afternoon a concert will be given in honor of the United States navy, represented by Rear Admirals Walker and Ramsey, and at night the concert will be given in honor of the states of the Union, represented by the governors of the states and their staffs. The concert Saturday afternoon will be in honor of congress, represented by the president of the senate and the speaker of the house. The last concert, Saturday night, will be in honor of the people of the United States and will consist of music by the Twenty-Second regiment band, and a chorus of 500 voices.

General Horace Porter of New York, with the members of his staff, is busy with the details of arranging the divisions. General Porter will act as grand marshal, and will have as his chief of staff Mr. Noel Blakeman of New York city. Colonel H. C. Corbin of the United States army as adjutant general and Captain John H. Johnson of the United States army as chief of aides, with Captain William Edward Horton of the D. C. N. G. special aid and military secretary.

The parade will be organized in two grand divisions, one civic and the other military. General Greenville M. Dodge will be chief marshal of the first grand division, to be composed of military organizations. In this division will be the national guards of the various states headed respectively by the governor and staff of each state and arranged in order from front to rear in the order in which the states entered the union.

The civic grand division will be commanded by Major D. H. Warner of the city of Washington as chief marshal, and will be made up of civic clubs of all descriptions. Prominent in this grand division will be the Republican national league, of which Mr. D. D. Woodmansee of Cincinnati, its president, will act as marshal. It is estimated that there will be from 40,000 to 60,000 people in the parade, and in order to move so vast an army in the space of time allowed they will be so formed that they can be marched past a given point at the rate of 12,000 an hour.

Many Think!

When it was said to the woman: "In sorrow shalt thou bring forth children," that a perpetual curse was pronounced, but the thrill of joy felt by every Mother when she clasps to her heart the babe proves the contrary. True, dangers lurk in the pathway of the Expectant Mother and should be avoided.

Mr. J. GEORGE SERRER, Druggist, City.
Dear George.—Please send for a bottle of Chamberlain's Cough Remedy. I would not feel easy if I knew there was none of this valuable Remedy in the house. I have given it a fair test and consider it one of the very best remedies for croup that I have ever found. One dose has always been sufficient although I use it freely. Any cold my children contract yields very readily to this medicine. I can conscientiously recommend it for croup and colds in children.
Yours Respectfully, Geo. E. Wolfe.

MASTER WORKMAN SOVEREIGN.

He Writes a Sensational Letter In Regard to Alleged Secret Organizations.

DENVER, Feb. 15.—J. P. Sovereign, grand master workman of the Knights of Labor, has written a sensational letter to The Industrial Advocate with Private Dalzell's exhortation for war with a foreign nation as the text.

He declares secret revolutionary societies known as the Iron Brotherhood and the Industrial Army are being organized in every part of the country, with their members leagued together to resort to civil war as a means of obtaining remedies for the populace, which they cannot secure by the ballot. He deprecates Private Dalzell's talk as being in a tone which might tend dangerously to fan this sentiment into an open flame, but asserts that should the revolution come he will not be "among the cowards now on the side of the plutocrat classes."

ANIMALS TOO RICH.

SOME OF THEM HAVE MORE ADVANTAGES THAN THEY NEED.

How Evolution Has Affected Certain Species—Frogs Are Poorly Equipped, Yet They Get a Living Easily—Cats Lead the Predatory Classes.

Certain snakes of medium size carry the most deadly weapon, whether of offense or defense, owned by any animal. In addition they have the perfect vertebrate structure which Sir Richard Owen so much admired, and can therefore swim, climb and make their way in places where no other animal of similar size can go. They are the best equipped animals of their kind. Side by side with these are found snakes of similar size and equal powers, except that they lack the invincible lethal weapon. They only carry blank cartridges in the battle of life. Evolution seems arrested for no reason. They not only fail to grow the poison tooth, but do not develop the power of crushing their prey as the constrictors do. It would be far easier for a common grass snake to kill a frog by poison before eating it, as the cobra does, than to have to swallow it alive. It would save it trouble to crush it, as a young boa constrictor of the same size would do, but it does neither, because it neither has developed, nor seems in the least likely to develop, the necessary equipment for so doing.

By the theory of evolution the grass snake ought therefore to go back in the world, while the other common English snake, the poisonous viper, armed with a weapon, powerful as a protection and a means of killing prey, increased in size and numbers and took its place. Yet this is exactly what has not happened. Grass snakes are larger and more numerous than adders, and there is no evidence that the absence of the poison fangs in any way endangers the survival of the species.

It is difficult to account for the absence of any visible failure in life of insect feeding creatures competing for existence on the same food, but with such unequal physical means for obtaining it as are possessed by the swallow, the marmoset, the shrew, the chameleon and the frog. In this list of five creatures living upon similar food we find that the physical appliances for obtaining it range from the perfect development of speed in flight in the swallow, the addition of hands for capture in the marmoset, bodily quickness and activity in the shrew, the power of assuming color exactly similar to that of environment in the chameleon, supplemented by a special apparatus for shooting out the tongue and capturing insects when motionless, to the absence of any special equipment at all, except that of a rather long tongue, in the insect eating frog.

Yet the frog, destitute of all these specialized appliances, lives just as well as the swallow, the shrew, the marmoset or the chameleon, and at least one species, the barking frog, finds that to get on in the world it has only to be still and wait till creatures walk into its mouth. It has acquired a skin color suited to its environment and a large mouth. But it is not, and could never be, considered well provided for getting its living.

Our estimate of the physical means and appliances necessary for the survival and well being of animals is probably set too high. We judge the needs of all from the perfect development and acquired powers of many, perhaps of most, which evolution has provided with appliances in excess of their real wants. Most animals are overequipped. Evolution has run riot and provided them with means and metal far in excess of their needs, just as it has provided them with an exuberance of ornament which delights us, but must already have passed beyond animal comprehension.

Probably the cats, great and small, would at once be named as the best equipped of all classes of predatory creatures, and the predatory creatures are by necessity superior in most forms of physique to those on which they prey. They are all "built" on one plan, with a special armament of teeth, sheaths to keep their claws sharp, muscles for springing suddenly to great distances, padded feet to deaden the sound of their movements and color adapted for concealment. These acquired appliances are in excess of their wants.

The polar bear, which cannot spring and has no sheaths for its claws, and has little obvious provision to aid it in swimming, catches and kills animals larger than those killed by the tiger and can kill them in the water. The wolverine, or glutton, which is heavy, slow and has the feet of a ferret, gets its living as a carnivorous animal no less well than the tiger cats, which have a far more specialized equipment for their work.

There is actual evidence from the fossil bones of tigers that this excess of equipment once went further and has been discarded as superfluous. An extinct species developed canine teeth of such enormous size that it has been named the "saber toothed tiger." The teeth were too long for its jaws, and the modern species use shorter weapons, just as modern ironclads are provided with lighter guns. The curling tusks of some of the mammoths and the palmed horns of the Irish elk were also in excess of requirements and are modified for use in the requiring elephants and reindeer. Many monkeys possess a thumb, but some do not, and there is no evidence that they are therefore at a disadvantage for their nonprogressive life.—London Spectator.

Wild ducks, cranes, swallows and several other kinds of birds assemble in flocks as the time of migration approaches and seem to discuss the departure and the route.

Good nature is the very air of a good mind, the sign of a large and generous soul and the peculiar soil in which virtue prospers.—Goldman.

THE ORIGINAL ARYAN.

I am the ancient Aryan. And you have done me wrong. I did not come from Hindustan—I've been here all along.

I never traveled from the east In huge successive waves. You'll find your ancestors deceased Inside your own old caves.

There my remains may now be sought, Mixed up with mastodons, Which very long with flints I fought Before I fought with bronze.

In simple skins I wrapped me round Ere mats I learned to make. I dug my dwellings in the ground Or reared them on a lake.

I had no pen, I'm sure of this, Although you say I penned All manner of theologies In Sanskrit and in Zend.

My nature you've misunderstood. When first I sojourned here, I worshiped chunks of stone or wood; My rites were rather queer.

The more my little ways you scan The less you'll care to praise And bide the dear old Aryan Of neolithic days.

They've mixed me up till, I declare, I hardly can report Whether I first was tall and fair, Or I was dark and short.

But on two things I take my stand Through all their noise and strife—I didn't come from Asia, and I had no higher life.

NOT A DIRECTORY.

Why the Hardworking Letter Carrier Loses His Temper Occasionally.

I stopped a letter carrier in Thirty-sixth street the other morning and inquired the number of the house on the other side of the street at which a personal friend of mine lived, giving the name and occupation of the gentleman about whom the inquiry was made. I knew he lived across the way, in one of a certain block, but had forgotten the particular number, and I knew the carrier would know by the mail delivered.

"Don't you know, sir," said the carrier, who knew me, by the way, "that you ask for that which it is contrary to the rules of the postoffice department to give?"

"No, I don't," I blushingly admitted.

"Well, it's true," he said. "The law recognizes the right of a citizen to a private residence, undisturbed, as long as he has committed no offense that requires such privacy to be invaded. Now if I should give your number and street to anybody who might happen to want them, the thing might cause you some annoyance."

"Why, anybody could find that out through the directory."

"They might, and they might not. Anyhow the postoffice is not a directory."

"And didn't you know," he added as a parting shot as he went away, "that you violate the law by stopping a postman in this way while he is delivering his mail?"

No, I didn't, and for that reason these paragraphs.—New York Herald.

James K. Collier's new war play, "Stonevill," was first produced at Wilmington, N. C., recently by the Langdon Dramatic company, with success. The scene is laid near Chancellorsville, Va.

BABY'S COMING.
Nature intended that every woman should look forward to the coming of her baby with joy and hope, unclouded by anxiety. Almost painless parturition is quite the usual thing among civilized people. Even in our own country it occasionally happens with women in robust health and good condition. It ought to be the rule instead of the exception; and it is a fact that a very large proportion of the usual pain and suffering may be avoided by looking after the mother's general health, and specially strengthening the particular organs concerned in parturition. Many mothers have been brought through the trying time almost painlessly by the aid of Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription. It prepares the system for delivery by imparting the organic strength and elasticity which the mother specially needs; shortens the time of labor and of confinement; promotes the secretion of abundant nourishment for the child and fortifies the entire constitution against the after period of depression and weakness. It's use should begin in the early months of gestation—the earlier the better.

THE NEW LAW.

MAP SHOWING THE INDIANA APPORTIONMENT OF 1897.

THE APPORTIONMENT

NEW LAW ENACTED BY THE INDIANA GENERAL ASSEMBLY.

How the Districts Are Arranged, Together with the Figures on Which the Act Is Based—Vote in the House—The Law of 1895.

The map given above will show at a glance the arrangement of Indiana counties for senatorial and representative apportionment. The bill was the work of a special committee appointed by a joint caucus of the Republican members of the general assembly. This committee was composed of Senators Hawkins, Hogate and Houghton and Representatives Babcock, Smith and Littleton, to whom had been referred all the bills introduced on the subject.

It was at a caucus held on the night of Feb. 2 that these gentlemen reported the result of their labors, which was adopted after a long session. Some opposition was made to the measure, particularly by representatives from Lagrange and Steuben counties, and for some days it was doubted whether the constitutional majority could be secured for its passage in the house.

This test came on Wednesday, Feb. 10, after the caucus had the night previous determined to adhere to the bill as at first offered. No vote in the house had been watched with as great interest up to the time the law was put on its passage, and it was to avoid an exciting scene that the roll was called. Mr. Butler was the only Republican who voted against it, defending his action on the ground that it was unsatisfactory to his constituents and that his first duty was to them. The vote was 52 to 47, affording one more than the necessary majority. In the senate the bill had smooth sailing when it came to a vote, the Republicans voting solidly for and Democrats against it.

The figures given below show the vote in the districts as now arranged in the election of 1895, the excess or deficit over the unit (which is 12,540 for senator and 6,270 for representative) and the party to which the difference is credited or charged:

SHELLING OF CANEA

Christians Surround the Town and Its Bombardment Commenced.

TURKISH FORTRESS REPLIED.

Governor of Crete Shows the White Feather and Goes Aboard a Russian Man-of-War—Prince George Receives a Visit From Commanders of Foreign Men-of-War and Withdraws.

CANEA, Island of Crete, Feb. 15.—The Christians occupied the heights surrounding the town yesterday and began to bombard Canea. As soon as the firing commenced Prince George Berovitch, governor of Crete, with 30 recently enrolled Montenegrin gendarmes boarded the Russian man-of-war. The Greek consul also embarked on board another vessel. The Turks from the fortress replied to the fire of the Christians. The military governor has been removed from his post. The foreign consuls also embarked on board the various vessels lying off the town of Canea. The Greek consul at Heraklion went on board the Greek warship Naumachos Mialis.

The Christians at Heraklion are also hurrying on board the ships. Fighting occurred around Halepa on Saturday. After a brisk fusillade the Turks dislodged the Christians and occupied the Akrotiri hills. The French consul was obliged to quit his country house at Halepa and return to his official residence at Canea.

A Greek warship fired on a Turkish vessel conveying soldiers from Candia to Canea. As a result of Friday's scenes the ambassadors decided to recommend to their respective governments that the powers occupy Canea, Retimo and Candia for the purpose of affording protection to the Mussulmans.

Prince Nicholas has started for Larissa, Thessalia, with the Third artillery regiment. It is stated that the British admiral commanding in the Cretan waters, has orders to prevent any collision at sea between the Turks and the Greeks. When Prince George arrived at Canea he received a visit from the commanders of the foreign men-of-war. Later he returned to Milo with the flotilla.

The foreign ministers at Athens met at the French legation for the purpose of considering the situation. It is believed that they decided to address further representations to the Grecian government, which replying to their recent statements declared that the government has not hesitated to assume the whole responsibility for the measures it had taken.

The report is current at Canea that the Turkish authorities, considering that resistance to the cause of the Christians in Crete is hopeless, have requested the foreign commanders to occupy the town. The commanders of the men-of-war have referred the subject matter to their respective governments and asked for instructions. A Greek steamer arrived at the island of Syria last night with 1,800 refugees who left Candia on the advice of the commander of the Greek warship and the foreign consuls there.

IN M'KINLEY'S HONOR

Preparation For the Inauguration of the President-Elect.

LAVISHNESS OF FESTIVITIES.

Inaugural Ball Will Be Held in the Pension Building and Any One Who Has the Price May Attend—General Porter Busy With the Details of the Great Parade.

WASHINGTON, Feb. 15.—The arrangements for the inauguration of President-elect McKinley two weeks from next Thursday are rapidly nearing completion, and the indications are that in point of brilliancy and attractiveness the ceremonies, the decorations and the festivities incident to inauguration week will be more lavish than those of former years. About $13,000 will be spent by the inaugural committee in decorating the main ball room and the private rooms set apart for the use the presidential and vice presidential parties. The great height of the court of the pension building, where the ball will be held, will be overcome by bunting festooned from the center of each of the three divisions of the court to the top of the second gallery. The bare walls everywhere and all the smaller pillars will be covered with bunting.

The president and vice president and their families will attend the ball and will be in charge of a reception committee, of which Major General Nelson A. Miles is the chairman.

The cost of tickets to the ball has been fixed at $5 for each person and $1 extra if supper is desired. In answer to many inquiries received at headquarters it may be stated that no invitations to the ball are necessary to secure tickets and none are issued except to foreign ministers. Tickets are now on sale and may be had by any one at the price named. The promenade concert will consist of six selections and the dance programmes contains 23 numbers. The ball will be held on Thursday night, and in addition a series of five inaugural grand concerts will be given in the ballroom on the following Friday and Saturday. At the first concert the Republican glee club of Columbus, O., will sing a number of patriotic airs. Friday afternoon a concert will be given in honor of the United States navy, represented by Rear Admirals Walker and Ramsey, and at night the concert will be given in honor of the states of the Union, represented by the governors of the states and their staffs. The concert Saturday afternoon will be in honor of congress, represented by the president of the senate and the speaker of the house. The last concert, Saturday night, will be in honor of the people of the United States and will consist of music by the Twenty-second regiment band, and a chorus of 500 voices.

General Horace Porter of New York, with the members of his staff, is busy with the details of arranging the divisions. General Porter will set as grand marshal, and will have as his chief of staff Mr. Noel Blakeman of New York city. Colonel H. C. Corbin of the United States army as adjutant general and Captain John H. Johnson of the United States army as chief of aides, with Captain William Edward Horton of the D. C. N. G. special aid and military secretary.

The parade will be organized in two grand divisions, one civic and the other military. General Grenville M. Dodge will be chief marshal of the first grand division, to be composed of military organizations. In this division will be the national guards of the various states headed respectively by the governor and staff of each state and arranged in order from front to rear in the order in which the states entered the union.

The civic grand division will be commanded by Mr. B. H. Warner of the city of Washington as chief marshal, and will be made up of civic clubs of all descriptions. Prominent in this grand division will be the Republican national league, of which Mr. D. D. Woodmanson of Cincinnati, its president, will act as marshal. It is estimated that there will be from 40,000 to 50,000 people in the parade, and in order to move so vast an army in the space of time allowed they will be so formed that they can be marched past a given point at the rate of 12,000 an hour.

Many Think!

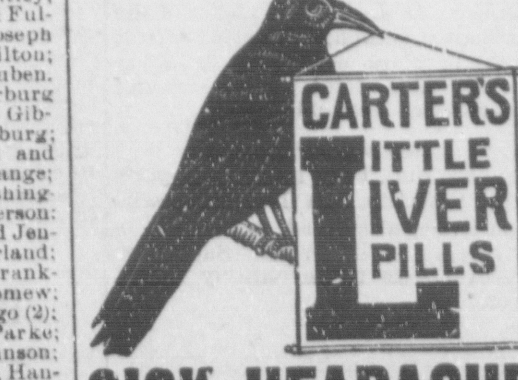

When it was said to the woman: "In sorrow shalt thou bring forth children," that a perpetual curse was pronounced, but the thrill of joy felt by every Mother when she clasps to her heart her babe proves the contrary. True, dangers lurk in the pathway of the Expectant Mother and should be avoided.

DR. SIDLEY, of Torrington, Conn., suffered from just such a complication of diseases as the extensive extension of the heart, nervous exhaustion, and liver trouble. Although attended by two physicians she grew worse, until she was at death's door. I then began giving her Dr. Miles' Restorative Nervine and Dr. Miles' New Heart Cure, and she improved so wonderfully from the first that I at once dismissed the physicians. SATURDAY evening President Cleveland concluded the last duck hunt he will likely take before his term of office expires.

The president-elect goes right on preparing for business paying no attention to the political war in Ohio that demagogues talk about.

The session of the legislature is drawing rapidly to close. It behooves every member to make the best use possible of the time remaining.

The street-railroad company, of Indianapolis, is consuming a great part of the legislature's time that rightly belong to the people.

The man who is sincere in asking for legislation in behalf of the schools of the state will not ask for the passage of the Senate bill 59 as it now reads.

SENATOR SHIVERS' pure food bill has passed the senate and will probably be taken up in the house the latter part of the week. The measure has many ardent supporters.

The fate of the two bills dealing with pharmacy and the practice of medicine can not be told at this time. The medical bill will come up for second reading in the house to-day.

The state board of education can not measure to-day the fitness of a man to teach and successfully manage a school twenty five years hence. He may be entirely successful to-day but that is not positive assurance that he will be a few years later. This being true no life licenses should be granted.

AMERICAN colleges last year received gifts of money and property amounting to $16,000,000. This is a good investment. Money spent in developing brain power is always well spent. General education of the people is especially under a republican form of government where every voter assists in choosing the rulers and where the men who make the laws are selected and advanced from the ranks on account of their fitness and ability.

The state pays an annual salary of $5,000 to President Swain of the state university, to President Smart, of Purdue, the same amount, and $4,000 to President Parsons, of the state normal. The amount appropriated for the state board of education is $2,000 a year of which sum they get their full share at five dollars a day when they are "doing extra." Right good pay for men who have no much time to spend in the lobby during the session of the legislature.

Cassars stimulate liver, kidneys, and bowels. Never sicken, weaken or gripeloe

One of the morning papers states that McKinley owns and manages a farm. If McKinley had been much of a demagogue, that fact would have been known far and wide during the campaign.

The legislature can do no better service for the state than to enact an anti-trust law. The bills before the legislature seem to have been carefully drawn and if passed will be of great service to the people.

Governor Mount has the correct idea of economy and fearlessly maintains his position before the people. His suggestion for redistricting the judicial circuits of the state is a wise one and should be carried out.

The plan proposed by the county officer's association is not in the interest of the people but in the interest of the office holders. The officers of Jackson county are paid right well for their services. If they think they are not they can resign and their successors will be named.

A bill was introduced in the house Saturday by Representative Newton, of Bartholomew county, to establish a second state normal school. For some years this matter has been agitated more or less among the teachers of the state. If there is need for another school at this time and it is to be established, the REPUBLICAN knows of no better place for it than Seymour.

EUROPE seems on the verge of a general war. Greece has defied Turkey and taken up arms to enforce her position. This warlike position taken by the usually peaceful king of Greece leads to the supposition that some powerful nation is back of the movement. If this is true and the war develops as it now promises, all the leading nations of Europe will be quickly involved. All Europe has been for several years like an immense tinder box which any spark is liable to ignite.

The purpose of every advertisement is to sell the goods by interesting those who are possible buyers. Once they are in the store the advertisement's work is largely done and the clerk must see to it that the customer is interested. A satisfied customer soon comes to rely on the merchant's statements made through his advertisements. Thus the merchant makes his regular space doubly profitable by attracting new customers and bringing back old ones who look for his announcement.

FEE AND SALARY LAW CHANGED.
East's Amendment to the Tax Law Passes the Senate—Bill Introduced in the House to Establish a Second State Normal School and One Providing For Voting Machines.

INDIANAPOLIS, Feb. 15.—This week a good deal of the most important legislation of the session will come up for action in one house or the other. The house will take up and probably pass the building and loan bill, upon which its committee has unanimously agreed. It will also pass the pharmacy bill and will act upon the general medical bill. It may also take up the Lincol anti-trust bill, which has been favorably reported by the judiciary committee.

The senate will probably pass the anti-cigarette bill a couple of weeks ago by the house, which has been amended by knocking out the cigar and tobacco feature. As the bill stands it prohibits the sale of cigarettes to minors under heavy penalties. The appropriation bill will be put through the senate this week without difficulty. The republicans have enough members to suspend the rules if they desire, but they will probably devote a day to discussion of the measure. It will also take up this week the Gilbert anti-trust bill and will probably pass it.

It is very doubtful whether anything will be accomplished along the line of the general educational bill at this session. The squabble that has grown up between the state and non-state institutions over the Geeting bill has thrown the legislature into so much doubt about the measure that it is likely to let the whole subject alone. It is growing late in the session, and there is so much other business upon which there is not so much question of judgment that it is likely to be forced to the rear.

SATURDAY'S SESSION.

House Corrects the Fee and Salary Law as to Auditors and Treasurers.
INDIANAPOLIS, Feb. 15.—Both houses were in session Saturday, though the senate adjourned at noon. During the morning it passed three amendments to the Indianapolis charter and the house bill by Mr. East making a slight amendment to the tax law. The house at its morning session passed the bill (which had already gone through the senate) correcting the fee and salary law of 1895 so that auditors and treasurers shall not be required to make up their salaries from fees collected. The companion bill, legalizing the acts of commissioners who have allowed these salaries, will be passed after this one is signed by the governor. The house spent a couple hours fighting over whether or not it should pay the expenses of the three election contests that have been decided by it, and finally voted the money, a little over $1,000, to pay them. In the afternoon there was no quorum present and it could not do anything but receive new bills and work upon second readings of minor measures.

Among the new bills introduced were the following: To establish a second state normal school; exempting blind persons from paying taxes; creating a board of pardons, requiring a graduated system in state prisons; providing for the use of voting machines; concerning the taxing of unimproved lands in cities and towns and an anti-trust bill.

Building and Loan.
INDIANAPOLIS, Feb. 15.—By permission Saturday Mr. Peckinbaugh presented a favorable report on the building and loan bill and the house concurred in the report. Mr. Sutton, who was a member of the building and loan commission, stated that he believed this was the best bill on the building and loan subject that could be devised, and moved that 500 copies be ordered printed. His motion was carried.

Appropriation Bill.
INDIANAPOLIS, Feb. 15.—The appropriation bill along with the tax levy will be introduced in the house this week. There will be no change in the levies from two years ago.

GENERAL STATE NEWS.

Oil Floating on a Creek Fired by Boys Causes Loss of Property.
ELWOOD, Ind., Feb. 15.—The waste oil from Alexander's oil well which flows into the creek passing through this city, was set on fire by boys yesterday and the flames swept through the town burning two bridges and an elevator, causing a heavy loss.

BURGERS ROUNDED UP.

Two Captured, One Escapes and One Is Shot to Death.
DUNKIRK, Ind., Feb. 15.—Night Watchman Osborne discovered burglars in the grocery of Harry Stradler Sunday morning, and gave the alarm to the other night watchman, who surrounded the store. Two men were captured, one got away and one was shot dead by Osborne. The dead man is about 5 feet 10 inches in height, weighs about 150 pounds, dark sandy curly hair, sandy complexion and freckled. He wore a dark suit and cap. His pals gave his name as Welch.

Robbed a Preacher.

INDIANAPOLIS, Feb. 15.—Last night while Rev. D. J. Ellison, pastor of the First Baptist church, and wife, were at church, burglars entered their house and secured $6, a solid gold watch and chain, a cameo ring and a valise.

Out of Danger.

DUNDEE, Ind., Feb. 15.—The reports sent out that Miss Ora Botherton, who Joseph Boxell attempted to murder, is slowly dying are incorrect. She has so far recovered as to be entirely out of danger.

A few months ago, Mr. Byron Every of Woodstock, Mich., was badly afflicted with rheumatism. His right leg was swollen the full length, causing him great suffering. He was advised to try Chamberlain's Pain Balm. The first bottle of it helped him considerably and the second bottle effected a cure. The 25 and 50 cent sizes are for sale by C. W. Milhaus.

HEEDLESS WOMEN.

They Pay a Sad Penalty for Their Neglect.

If women only heeded first symptoms—nervousness, headache, ache, lassitude, loss of appetite and sleep; palpitation, melancholy, "blues," etc., and at once removed the cause with Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, there would be much less suffering. But they are careless, or their physician is to blame, and they drift into some distressing female disease. The Vegetable Compound at once removes all irregularities of the monthly period; inflammation, ulceration and displacement of the womb, and all female troubles. All druggists have it. Write to Mrs. Pinkham at Lynn, Mass., if you wish for advice, which she will give you free.

"I should not be alive to-day, if it had not been for Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound. I was suffering greatly from an attack of female weakness, and nothing I had tried could give me relief; when by the advice of a friend I began the Compound. After using it two months I was a different girl, and now at the end of six I am entirely cured."—MRS. ANNIE KIRKLAND, Patchogue, L. I.

What Good Advertising Accomplished.

Charles S. Lee, general passenger agent of the Lehigh Valley railroad, is a firm believer in advertising. He has conducted a brilliant advertising campaign the past year, at which the eminently respectable old gentlemen who were in at the birth of the road, and are in good berths yet, shoot their heads sagely. They held to the notion that people cannot be made to travel over a particular road unless required by business to do so.

An item in the annual report of the road has set the heads of these same old gentlemen to nodding vigorously in commendation of Mr. Lee's advertising campaign, and with good reason. The report shows that during 1896, the duller known in passenger traffic in many years, the number of passengers carried one mile is an increase of nearly eight million passengers over the preceding year. This most remarkable showing not only justifies Mr. Lee's course, and stamps him as one of the most successful railway advertisers of the day, but it gives new and startling evidence upon the value of advertising as an agency in combating dull times and competition.

NEWSPAPER BURNED OUT.

Office of the Pittsburgh Post Completely Destroyed.

PITTSBURGH, Feb. 15.—The office of the Post, on Fifth avenue, was almost totally destroyed by fire yesterday, causing a loss to the paper of about $60,000, well insured. Loss on the building is not yet known. The only other tenant in the building was Gleason, the railroad ticket broker, whose loss was small. The Commercial Gazette, next door to The Post, was in imminent danger, but good work by the fireman saved that plant, the only damage being caused by water which flooded the cellar. The Commercial presses and engine are thus, for the time being, disabled. The paper this morning was printed at The Press office.

The Post will be issued from the office of The Leader until a new plant can be established. The fire which caused the trouble was a mysterious one, and had made a fine of the freight elevator shaft, getting under a big headway before the watchman discovered it.

INDICTED THE MAYOR.

Sensational Sequel to the Escape of a Prisoner at Bloomington.

BLOOMINGTON, Ill., Feb. 15.—The grand jury late Saturday indicted Captain Daniel Foster, mayor of the city, on the charge of allowing Ryan, a Chicago pickpocket, to escape from the city prison on Oct. 15 last. There are two indictments against the mayor, one for allowing Ryan to go and one for malfeasance. Ryan was afterward arrested in Chicago and said he gave up $150 and a diamond pin to secure his freedom. Captain Foster gave bond in $1,000. He is popular, has held the office several times and denies any knowledge of the escape. Sergeant Dunn swore he liberated Ryan at the express orders of the mayor.

Three Thousand Miners Will Go to Work at a Reduced Rate.

MASSILLON, O., Feb. 15.—Delegates representing the majority of the Massillon district miners convened here Saturday to reconsider their recent decision repudiating the 51-cent rate for mining. After deliberation they decided to accept the price and return to work. Nearly 3,000 men are affected. They have been idle since Jan. 1, and many are in needy circumstances as the result.

Chicago Drainage Channel.

PEORIA, Ill., Feb. 15.—The permanent executive committee of the Illinois Valley association, in session here Saturday, took measures to oppose all amendments proposed by the Chicago drainage trustees except that one granting them power to increase their own tax levy. An amendment was prepared to enable the state to enforce maintenance of a full flow of water and to increase it according to the growth of future population.

The newest and most important books are carefully reviewed. Indexes, chronological records, and other departments complete the certainty that the reader of the REVIEW OF REVIEWS will miss nothing of great significance that is said or written or done throughout the world.

The Massachusetts deacon, just deceased, who gave $118,000 to church institutions during his life on condition that he pay him 6 per cent interest until he died knew how to blend thrift with his philanthropy, but it is by no means certain that the philanthropy was any worse for the blend. It may be that his Yankee smartness has evolved an idea in church economies that will be widely and imitated.—Philadelphia Record.

Beware of Ointments for Catarrh that Contain no Mercury.
As mercury will surely destroy the sense of smell and completely derange the whole system when entering it through the mucous surfaces. Such articles should never be used except on prescriptions from reputable physicians, as the damage they will do is ten fold to the good you can possibly derive from them. Hall's Catarrh Cure manufactured by F. J. Cheney & Co., Toledo, Ohio, contains no mercury, and is taken internally, acting directly upon the blood and mucous surfaces of the system. A GOOD LETTER
From the Clerk of the Circuit Court.
FERNANDINA, Fla., Feb. 23, 1896
Mr. J. GEORGE SERRER, Druggist, City.
Dear George.—Please send for a bottle of Chamberlain's Cough Remedy. I would not feel easy if I knew there was none of this valuable Remedy in the house. I have given it a fair test and consider it one of the very best remedies for croup that I have ever found. One dose has always been sufficient although I use it freely. Any cold my children contract yields very readily to this medicine. I can conscientiously recommend it for croup and colds in children.
Yours Respectfully, GEO. E. WOLFE.

An Old Enquirer.
The REPUBLICAN has in its possession by the courtesy of John M. Seaman, Sr. a copy of the Cincinnati Enquirer, dated August 17, 1842. It differs very materially from the Enquirer of today. It is chiefly a discussion of current political questions giving but little attention to news.
The paper contains a lengthy discussion of the tariff bill of that year, together with President Tyler's veto of the same. It contains the most scathing criticism of the Ohio legislature which is in session at the time.
It is partisan in the extreme sense. In tomorrow's issue we will give some extracts from this old relic of journalism.
Changes Ownership.
Mrs. William Frysinger has sold the Brownstown Banner to A. J. Brodecker who has been connected with the paper for several years. He has borne much of the responsibility of the management of the paper since Mr. Frysinger's death.

He has become fully satisfied that it was only a question of a short time until he would have to give up. He had been treated by some of the best physicians in Europe and America but got no permanent relief. One day he picked up a newspaper and chanced to read an advertisement of Chamberlain's Colic, Cholera and Diarrhoea Remedy. He got a bottle of it, the first dose helped him and its continued use cured him. For sale by C. W. Milhous, Druggist.

Your Washtub

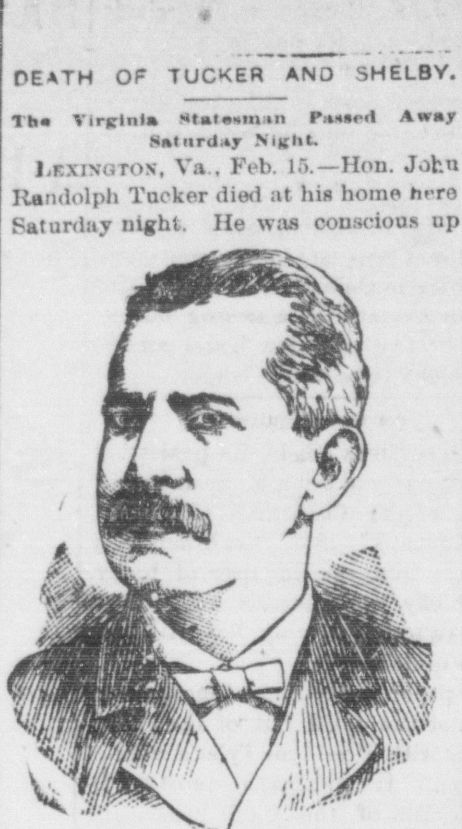

will be turned upside down more of the time if you use Santa Claus Soap. If you do your own washing this means rest for you. If you hire it done, it means money for you. If time is ever elaborately thrown away, it is over a wash tub with a poor soap.

Santa Claus Soap

is made to wash clothes as they should be washed. It distinguishes friend from foe—your clothes from the dirt—and spares one while it strikes the other. You must use soap; why not the best? Suppose you are now suited,—you will feel no worse when you are better suited. Try Santa Claus. Santa Claus Soap has long been made and has friends everywhere. Sold everywhere. Made only by

MASTER WORKMAN SOVEREIGN.

He Writes a Sensational Letter In Regard to Alleged Secret Organizations.

DENVER, Feb. 15.—J. P. Sovereign, grand master workman of the Knights of Labor, has written a sensational letter to The Industrial Advocate with Private Dailzell's exhortation for war with a foreign nation as the text.

He declares secret revolutionary societies known as the Iron Brotherhood and the Industrial Army are being organized in every part of the country, with their members leagued together to resort to civil war as a means of obtaining remedies for the populace, which they cannot secure by the ballot. He deprecates Private Dailzell's talk as being in a tone which might tend dangerously to fan this sentiment into an open flame, but asserts that should the revolution come he will not be "among the cowards now on the side of the plutocrat classes."

ANIMALS TOO RICH.

SOME OF THEM HAVE MORE ADVANTAGES THAN THEY NEED.

How Evolution Has Affected Certain Species—Frogs Are Poorly Equipped, Yet They Get a Living Easily—Cats Lead the Predatory Classes.

Certain snakes of medium size carry the most deadly weapon, whether of offense or defense, owned by any animal. In addition they have the perfect vertebrate structure which Sir Richard Owen so much admired, and can therefore swim, climb and make their way in places where no other animal of similar size can go. They are the best equipped animals of their kind. Side by side with these are found snakes of similar size and equal powers, except that they lack the invincible lethal weapon. They only carry black cartridges in the battle of life. Evolution seems arrested for no reason. They not only fail to grow the poison tooth, but do not develop the power of crushing their prey as the constrictors do. It would be far easier for a common grass snake to kill a frog by poison before eating it, as the cobra does, than to have to swallow it alive. It would save it trouble to crush it, as a young boa constrictor of the same size would do, but it does neither, because it neither has developed, nor seems in the least likely to develop, the necessary equipment for so doing.

By the theory of evolution the grass snake ought therefore to go back in the world, while the other common English snake, the poisonous viper, armed with a weapon, powerful as a protection and a means of killing prey, increased in size and numbers and took its place. Yet this is exactly what has not happened. Grass snakes are larger and more numerous than adders, and there is no evidence that the absence of the poison fangs in any way endangers the survival of the species.

It is difficult to account for the absence of any visible failure in life of insect feeding creatures competing for existence on the same food, but with such unequal physical means for obtaining it as are possessed by the swallow, the marmoset, the shrew, the chameleon and the frog. In this food we find that the physical appliances for obtaining it range from the perfect development of speed in flight in the swallow, the addition of hands for capture in the marmoset, bodily quickness and activity in the shrew, the power of assuming color exactly similar to that of environment in the chameleon, supplemented by a special apparatus for shooting out the tongue and capturing insects when motionless, to the absence of any special equipment at all, except that of a rather long tongue, in the insect eating frog.

Yet the frog, destitute of all these specialized appliances, lives just as well as the swallow, the shrew, the marmoset or the chameleon, and at least one species, the barking frog, finds that to get on in the world it has only to be still and wait till creatures walk into its mouth. It has acquired a skin color suited to its environment and a large mouth. But it is not, and could never be, considered well provided for getting its living.

Our estimate of the physical means and appliances necessary for the survival and well being of animals is probably set too high. We judge the needs of all from the perfect means and acquired powers of many, perhaps of most, which evolution has provided with appliances in excess of their real wants. Most animals are overequipped. Evolution has run riot and provided them with means and metal far in excess of their needs, just as it has provided them with an exuberance of ornament which delights us, but must already have passed beyond animal comprehension.

Probably the cats, great and small, would at once be named as the best equipped of all classes of predatory creatures, and the predatory creatures are by necessity superior in most forms of physique to those on which they prey. They are all "built" on one plan, with a special armament of teeth, sheaths to keep their claws sharp, muscles for springing suddenly to great distances, padded feet to deaden the sound of their movements and color adapted for concealment. These acquired appliances are in excess of their wants.

The polar bear, which cannot spring and has no sheaths for its claws, and has little obvious provision to aid it in swimming, catches and kills animals larger than those killed by the tiger and can kill them in the water. The wolf, orer, or glutton, which is heavy, slow and has the feet of a porcupine, gets its living as a carnivorous animal no less well than the tiger cats, which have a far more specialized equipment for their work.

There is actual evidence from the fossil bones of tigers that this excess of equipment once went further and has been discarded as superfluous. An extinct species developed canine teeth of such enormous size that it has been named the "saber toothed tiger." The teeth were too long for its jaws, and the modern species use shorter weapons, just as modern ironclads are provided with lighter guns. The curling tusks of some of the mammoths and the palmated horns of the Irish elk were also in excess of requirements and are modified for use in the existing elephants and reindeer. Many monkeys possess a thumb, but some do not, and there is no evidence that they are therefore at a disadvantage for their nonprogressive life.—London Spectator.

Wild ducks, cranes, swallows and several other kinds of birds assemble in flocks as the time of migration approaches and seem to discuss the departure and the route.

Good nature is the very air of a good mind, the sign of a large and generous soul and the peculiar soil in which virtue prospers.—Goodman.

THE ORIGINAL ARYAN.

I am the ancient Aryan,
And you have done me wrong.
I did not come from Hindustan—
I've been here all along.

I never traveled from the east
In huge successive waves.
You'll find your ancestors deceased
Inside your own old caves.

There my remains may now be sought,
Mixed up with mastodons,
Which very long with flints I fought
Before I fought with bronze.

In simple skins I wrapped me round
Ere man I learned to make
I dug my dwellings in the ground
Or reared them on a lake.

I had no pen, I'm sure of this,
Although you say I penned
All manner of theologies
In Sanskrit and in Zend.

My nature you've misunderstood.
When first I sojourned here,
I worshipped chunks of stone or wood;
My rites were rather queer.

The more my little ways you gaze
The less you'll care to praise
And bless the dear old Aryan
Of neolithic days.

They've mixed me up till, I declare,
I hardly can report
Whether I first was tall and fair,
Or I was dark and short.

But on two things I take my stand
Through all their noise and strife—
I didn't come from Asia, and
I had no higher life.

—Prach.

NOT A DIRECTORY.

Why the Hardworking Letter Carrier Loses His Temper Occasionally.

I stopped a letter carrier in Thirty-sixth street the other morning and inquired the number of the house on the other side of the street at which a personal friend of mine lived, giving the name and occupation of the gentleman about whom the inquiry was made. I knew he lived across the way, in one of a certain block, but had forgotten the particular number, and I knew the carrier would know by the mail delivered.

"Don't you know, sir," said the carrier, who knew me, by the way, "that you ask for that which is contrary to the rules of the postoffice department to give?"

"No, I don't," I blushingly admitted.

"Well, it's true," he said. "The law recognizes the right of a citizen to a private residence, undisturbed, as long as he has committed no offense that requires such privacy to be invaded. Now if I should give your number and street to anybody who might happen to want them, the thing might cause you some annoyance."

"Why, anybody could find that out through the directory."

"They might, and they might not. Anyhow the postoffice is not a directory."

"And didn't you know," he added as a parting shot as he went away, "that you violate the law by stopping a postman in this way while he is delivering his mail?"

No, I didn't, and for that reason these paragraphs.—New York Herald.

James K. Collier's new war play, "Stonewall," was first produced at Wilmington, N. C., recently by the Langdon Dramatic company, with success. The scene is laid near Chancellorsville, Va.
